

COVID-19 UPDATE:

The last few days have been difficult. We were allowed to operate as normal, then we were placed on the mandatory-close list. Late last night we were placed back on the essential list, allowing us to still operate today.

Yesterday, as I watched the huge wave of clients rushing in to file before the, at that time, shut-down order; I was struck by how many people were huddled together in our office, both “high-risk” and “low-risk” and how this just isn’t helping things. We have always thought of our clients and employees as family. For those utilizing our Loyalton office, as you know, Matt and his family still live there and pass through there.

With that in mind, we will be utilizing a minimal direct contact policy; social distancing if you prefer. We ask that you mail, email, or utilize the brass mail slot at our 300 Union Street, Millersburg location to drop off your information. We will still be in here, processing your returns. For payroll clients, please continue to send us your information as you had before. When we complete your tax returns, we will contact you to determine your preferred method of delivery. Typically that would be via mail or we could provide that electronically.

The IRS has announced that the filing, and payment deadlines have been pushed to July 15th. With that in mind, we ask that you consider waiting until after the current situation improves, and it will improve. Stay safe and healthy. We’re all in this together.
